What's hot this week

Beyond the Blackboard (Hallmark Hall of Fame Movie Premiere)

Sunday, April 24, 9 p.m. ET, CBS

Prepare for an emotionally powerful life lesson as Emily VanCamp leads an incredible cast of all ages in this heart-wrenching and hope-inspiring true story about a teacher and her homeless students who triumph against all odds and a clueless educational system. In 1987, first-time teacher Stacey Bess (VanCamp) accepts a position in a homeless shelter, teaching children grades 1-6 in one dilapidated, rat-infested room. It's a teaching nightmare, but Stacey won't give up on her dream of teaching or on her kids. VanCamp's former "Everwood" co-star Treat Williams guest stars as a charitable school superintendent in this schoolroom drama where you'll learn about true caring respect and not to take whatever you have for granted. Grade: A+!

Dresscue Me

Tuesday, April 26, 10:30 p.m. ET, Planet Green

When was the last time you walked into a women's clothing store on a budget and had the store staff care so much about your self-esteem and self-image that they would cater to you for hours if it meant finding that special dress that'll make you feel like a confident, beautiful woman for less than $75? If the answer is "never," then you haven't been to Shareen Mitchell Vintage, where Shareen Mitchell takes vintage clothing, makes a few fashionable alterations and creates a one-of-a-kind dress that a woman can really shine in. Tonight, Shareen gets the amazing opportunity to partner with women's retailer Madewell, while tasked with finding the perfect dress for her longtime celebrity client Cat Deeley.

The Paul Reiser Show

Thursday, April 28, 8:30 p.m. ET, NBC

Tonight, on the network primetime alternative to cable's "Curb Your Enthusiasm," only much more likeable, Paul (Paul Reiser) becomes China's Mr. Fix-It when his overzealous Hollywood agents mistake his sarcastic comment for a request and make him the spokesperson for an Asian tool company, complete with a very well-endowed store standee. Meanwhile, Paul's rotund entrepreneurial friend, Habib (the hilarious Omid Djalili), who sells everything and does everything, takes Paul's advice to work out and turns Paul's wife Claire's (Amy Landecker) yoga class into a group therapy session when the yoga positions and breathing exercises release his tensions and pent-up emotions in this very funny episode directed by Fred Savage ("The Wonder Years").

Bones

Thursday, April 28, 9 p.m. ET, FOX

Tonight, Booth (David Boreanaz) and Brennan (Emily Deschanel) uncover a really rare find—an honest advertising man—whose body is found in the grounds of a newly built community center playground. Upon interrogating his former partner and employer, they discover that the executive was a member of a radical honesty support group and that it was his newly adopted policy of total honesty that may have gotten him killed. The honesty bug bites the team members too as they attempt to be more truthful in their relationships. And Angela (Michaela Conlin) presses Hodgins (TJ Thyne) to address the realities of their pregnancy in this all new episode.

LOVE is busting out on the "Bachelor Pad"! (Spoiler alert: If you don't want to learn about Cupid's escapades on Season Two, stop reading now.)

Contestants Erica Rose and Brian Westendorf are dating – and their blossoming romance will be revealed when the new season gets underway on August 8, The ENQUIRER has learned.

ERICA, 28, AND PERSONAL TRAINER Brian, 34, met at "The Bachelor" reunion two years ago, and although they immediately hit it off, they just recently took their relationship to the next level. The pair bonded over their passion for charity work and fitness. While they don't get to see each other a lot, Erica flies from her home in Houston to Fort Worth to visit him as much as possible.

"Brian and Erica are smitten with each other," disclosed a pal.

"They both have busy schedules, but whenever they do have time to spend together, they mostly frequent the gym. Erica is determined to get in as good a shape as Brian, so he is training her?"

Erica – who's studying to be an attorney – originally starred on "The Bachelor: Rome" in 2006, where her outspoken and judgmental attitude scared away Prince Lorenzo Borghese.

Most recently Erica was in VH1's
